Resources for ethics training on humanitarian health ethics: research and practice

OPEN-ACCESS RESOURCES:
• IMMERSIVE E-LEARNING MODULE
• REPOSITORY OF ETHICS CASE STUDIES
• FICTIONAL PROTOCOL FOR ETHICS COMMITTEE TRAINING
• HUMANITARIAN HEALTH ETHICS ANALYSIS TOOL (HHEAT)
Looking for training resources on humanitarian health ethics?

E-LEARNING MODULE

This module is designed to allow individuals or groups to engage with ethically challenging issues arising in humanitarian work. You will encounter a series of decisions, receive feedback on the choices you make, be pointed toward additional reading and resources, and learn to apply the Humanitarian Health Ethics Analysis Tool (HHEAT).

ETHICS CASE STUDIES

We have developed a set of ethics case studies. They are drawn from interviews we have conducted with humanitarian workers. They can be integrated into ethics training activities.

HUMANITARIAN RESEARCH ETHICS TRAINING ACTIVITY

We have developed a fictional research protocol that can be used as part of training activities in humanitarian research ethics, especially during a role-play where trainees act as a research ethics committee (REC) to review a protocol. It may also be used as a training tool for researchers or RECs, especially ones with less familiarity reviewing humanitarian research.

HUMANITARIAN HEALTH ETHICS ANALYSIS TOOL (HHEAT)

The HHEAT is a six-step ethics analysis tool designed to help humanitarian workers make ethical decisions. It can be used by groups or individuals, and in situations ranging from pre-departure training, in the field when ethical issues arise, or in debriefing sessions after particularly difficult decisions. The HHEAT was refined through a testing process with humanitarian workers and is accompanied by a handbook.
